The European project [EASTN] aiming at making creativity and digital artworks more accessible to the society, by promoting the development, at the European scale, of a deep and collective awareness of the current artistic trends and technologies.

It's central focus will be on Tangibility, which is at the core of a current major evolution in artistic creation. Indeed, new ways to interact with information and digital media are proposed today, which rely more on the role of senses and gesture to establish links between real and virtual worlds.
